BUYING THE WIND.

Iceland "Wizards" Who Used to Sell to Superstitious Mariners.

In the old days of sailing ships it was a common thing for a sea captain to "buy the wind" for his voyage, though, strangely enough, the only people supposed to deal in it were the Icelanders. When a constant succession of baffling winds or dead calms had persistently followed a ship for more than one cruise, it was not at all unusual for the skipper of a big windjammer to pay a visit to Iceland for the sole purpose of purchasing wind enough to last him on his next voyage or two.

In every port in Iceland one or more "wind wizards" were to be found, who were ready to sell a favorable wind for the next six months or a year to any sea captain willing to invest in something he could not see. The sailor, having found his way to the magician's house, first proceeded to spread out upon the floor the articles offered in payment for the wind—tailor's candles, cloth, beads, knives, powder and lead.
After a good deal of bargaining and many times adding to or taking away from the little pile of merchandise between them, the price was finally agreed upon, and the captain passed over his handkerchief to the Icelandic.

The wind merchant muttered certain words into it, tying a knot in the handkerchief at the end of each incantation. This was done to keep the magic words from evaporating. When a certain number of knots had been tied, the handkerchief was returned to its owner, with a strict charge to keep it knotted and guard it with extraordinary care until he arrived at the desired port, and at each port a knot was to be taken out.

One old captain had been so bothered with head winds that he kept crying out to the Icelandic to the another knot in the handkerchief and another and another, so as to be sure of plenty of the wished for zephyrs, until finally there was no room for any more knots and three knives and thirty candles had been added to the heap on the floor. But when the wind wizard captain was two days at sea a terrific gale began to hurl the ship ahead of it, increasing in fury until the vessel plunged under bare poles, with her nose down in the brine and tons of water washing her decks. Darker and darker grew the sky, and higher and higher rose the racing, foam crested waves, hammering the laboring vessel with ceaseless blows until her seams began to open under the strain and let in the sea.

Then, believing he had the devil in his pocket, the badly frightened skipper drew forth the much knotted handkerchief and threw it overboard. In a short time the tempest abated, the clouds cleared away, and the waters subsided, but one seaman never again bought wind. He was content with the kind that comes by chance.—New York Times.

ABOUT THE STATE

The 131st anniversary of the surrender of General Burgoyne at Saratoga was observed by William French Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at Bellows Falls Saturday.

Mrs. Charlotte Johnson of Colchester, celebrated her ninety-eighth birthday anniversary October 10. She is in good health and in full possession of all her faculties. Several grandchildren and other relatives were present.

The West Derby village school has been closed, owing to an outbreak of scarlet fever. It is expected it will reopen in two weeks. The disease is taking a very mild form and those affected are suffering no very great inconvenience from it.

The horsemen of East Charlotte have organized a driving club and built a good half mile track. A matinee was held Saturday afternoon with good attendance and racing. The final matinee for the season will be held Wednesday afternoon with three races on the program.

Bellows Falls Bridge Condemned.

A special meeting of the town of Rockingham will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. To see if the town will vote to build a new bridge across the canal in Bellows Falls, to take the place of the present iron bridge and provide means therefore.
This is necessitated by the report of a bridge engineer employed recently to examine the bridge built in 1892 by the Bellows Falls Co. His report is an unqualified condemnation of the structure as unsafe. The stringers and some of the cords under the dor-ing show plainly that they are badly eaten by rust. Traffic has become so much more heavy over it that a heavier bridge is required. Frequently loads weighing an aggregate from fifteen to twenty-five tons meet on the bridge.
A second article in the warrant is to see if the town will vote to pay an unexpended balance of the $3,500 appropriated in 1905 for a town history, amounting to $55.83, to the historian for extra services rendered by him.

Changes in State Y. M. C. A. Force.

Changes have been made in the employed force of the Vermont Young Men's Christian Association that are expected to mean much for the efficiency and furtherance of the work in the state. The state secretary, Louis Hieb, formerly in charge of the association work in Vermont, will hereafter be assisted by W. E. McGovern, of Island Pond, as office assistant.
W. G. Guthrie, of the University of Kansas, after four years' experience with a student association there, has been called to be general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at the University of Vermont, Burlington. He succeeds W.
H. H. Hieb.

A. I. Stuart, of Tenants Harbor, Me., a graduate of Colby College and for several years principal of Tenants Harbor high school, also a traveling business man for some years, has taken the position of county secretary in Addisbury. The work in Addison county had been started by W. S.
Coleman, former state county work secretary.

H. B. Monroe, formerly assistant secretary of the Bennington association, is now physical director of the association, vice John Aspinall, resigned.
John K. Glickerson, of Pittsburg, Pa., has been engaged as secretary and physical director of the Montpelier association, vice G. R. Gilman, who has taken the secretaryship of the boys' department at Watertown, N. Y.

Charles Riley of Allentown, Pa., is the new physical director of the Burlington association. He is a graduate of the training school of Temple University and of the Philadelphia School of Anatomy.
The associations throughout Vermont will observe the week of prayer for young men November 8-15, in connection with the evangelistic meetings to be held throughout Vermont for a month beginning November 3, by Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman and a corps of assistants.
W. W. Crutfield, who is under appointment of the international committee for Ceylon, spoke before the Burlington association October 11 and sailed from New York October 13 for Ceylon.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

FOR CHRISTMAS.

There are three good reasons why The Youth's Companion makes one of the best gifts for Christmas time, for a birthday, for any occasion when a present is in order.

E. N. Normandeau.

It Never Fails to Give Pleasure.
There is something in every issue of The Companion for every member of the family. The children never pass it by, and the parents are restless until the children reluctantly put it down and go to bed.

It is Easy to Order by Mail.
You need not go through the vexation of Christmas shopping to make a present of The Companion. Sit down in the quiet of your own house, and send the subscription. The Companion will be delivered wherever you say, on Christmas morning.

It Comes Every Week in the Year.

Nine out of ten Christmas presents have lost their novelty by New Year's.
The Companion provides a continual pleasure, for it is renewed 52 times until Christmas comes again. Is there another present equal to it that costs so little—$1.75?

The new subscriber receives free the double holiday numbers and The Companion calendar for 1909, "In Grandmother's Garden," lithographed in 13 colors.

Full illustrated announcement of the new volume for 1909 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free. The Youth's Companion, 144 Berkeley street, Boston, Mass.

Notice.

The Aldrich library trustees solicit bids for the janitor work for the public library. Bids must include attending fires, sweeping and dusting rooms, care of grounds both summer and winter and cleaning building at night. Bids must be sealed and addressed to S. D. Phelps, secretary, and to be for one year from and after October 30, 1908. All bids to be in hands of secretary at 8 o'clock p. m., October 10, 1908. The trustees reserve the right to reject any or all bids.

A SURPRISING WEDDING.

It Gave a Shock to the Lady Who Was So Anxious to See It.

An elderly American author asked me to conduct her to a place where she could see a workman's wedding, as she required it for a new novel, writes the Paris correspondent of the London Gentlewoman. To oblige the lady I took her to the Lac Saint-Pageon, an establishment at the top of the steep Rue de Belleville.

It was still early when we reached the place, and no brides or bridegrooms were visible as yet. At last two charabancs drove up to the door, and a noble company alighted, all smoking cigarettes, including the bride, which shocked my friend exceedingly.

The company then sat down to luncheon, and we watched them from a distance, while a photographer took up his position near us. The meal did not last very long and ended in the bride performing a jig on the table, while the guests danced around her.
They then started games, hide and seek, etc., and while the bridegroom had his back turned the bride threw her arms round the neck of a red haired youth.

This led to a fight between the two.
The moles became general, the bride pulling off her wreath and throwing it at her father-in-law's head. My friend looked on in breathless excitement, while the guests jumped over the table and chairs, but when the bride turned a somersault, alighting on the bridegroom's shoulders, the good lady's indignation rose to a high pitch, and it was only then that I told her what I —and the reader no doubt, too—guessed long before, that they were a party of acrobats rehearsing a scene for a cinematograph company.

A NEW FLATIRON.

It Prevents the Heat From Coming
Near the Hand.

There is always something new, whether it is Paris hats or just plain flatirons. This time it is flatirons.
The old iron was made of solid metal, handle and all. But somebody said:
"What's the use of heat the handle as well as the iron? Why not have one handle for half a dozen irons and keep it away from the fire?" The handle cool and the iron hot seemed to be the most desirable state of affairs. This arrangement has been successfully handled, but some ingenious inventor has devised a still more successful scheme. In the new iron there is a detachable hood which covers the entire iron and which is lined with asbestos.
This serves two purposes. It keeps the heat from coming up to the hand or from coming in contact with the handle and thus makes ironing a comparatively cool process. It also keeps the heat in the iron from escaping except as brought in contact with the damp clothes. This makes it necessary to change irons less frequently than usual and thus saves fuel.

These new irons come in a number of varieties which are designed for different uses. There are ordinary irons for ironing flat articles and plain clothing. Besides these there are very heavy irons made especially for pressing.
One of these should be owned by the home dressmaker. For soft little baby clothes and other small fine articles there are small irons only four or five inches in length, and for ironing sleeves and ruffles there is a specially shaped iron which is long and narrow.
The irons ought to be much more satisfactory than the old fashioned kind.

The Whale.

A whale's greatest speed is from ten to twelve miles an hour.

Goldfish.

When the goldfish is first hatched it has no pretty color markings. It appears like an ordinary minnow both in color and shape. It is not until the fish is nearly a year old that even faint traces of its beautiful hues may be distinguished.

A FACT PROVEN.

Should Convince Even the Most Skeptical of Its Truth.

If there is the slightest doubt in the minds of any that Dandruff germs do not exist, their belief is compelled by the fact that a rabbit inoculated with the germs became bald in six weeks' time.
It must be apparent to any person therefore that the only prevention of baldness is the destruction of the germ-which act is successfully accomplished in one hundred per cent. of cases by the application of Newbro's Herpicide.
Dandruff is caused by the same germ which causes baldness and can be prevented with the same remedy—Newbro's Herpicide.

Accept no substitute. "Destroy the cause you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in
